15th Edition

Combining theory and practice. The theory is developed through the discussion in the text and the practice is developed through sets which provide real laboratory work. The discussion is subdivided into distinct chapters, each relating to a definite topic. Questions are provided at the end of each chapter for class discussion. Numerous short exercises are provided for practice in applying the theory. This system permits a teacher to use his own initiative with regard to methods in teaching. A flexible system adapted to any length course desired.

WOMEN WHO APPRECIATE FOOT COMFORT

ARE WEARING POHL'S REST SHOE

Hundreds of Cincinnatians are enthusiastic ARCH REST wearers and here is what they say about them:

"Hold their shape and fit the Arch like a well fitted glove fits the hand."
"Elevate the Arch and equalize the weight from the ball to heel."
"Relieves that pain in Arch under ball of the foot."
"It's not a Cripple foot shoe, but it prevents foot trouble."
"Cost no more than ordinary shoes, but are, worth far more."

Why not try a pair? They come in high and low models, and in styles that are up to the minute.
