There is one other view in which your Committee will place this subject. If the hemsiltee is right in sauming, that under the circumstances which new exist, the Banks would be maked to maintain their persent circumstance, that 'the increased valon', and the demand for specie, or its equivalent to pay the eastern deby, would return the circulation of the Banks upon them for redemption, then it behoves the Legislatus for accordance whence the two militions of cellur, not how in the vaults of the Banks upon them procured, with which to relief this circulation, not how in the vaults of the Banks, are to be procured, with which to relief this circulation, not how in the vaults of the Banks, are to be Banks. If from the first, the active means of the Banks, which have been bestedore engaged in the purchase and transporting of our staple to market, would almost entirely be absorbed, and the drover and trader could no longer look to that source for their usual accommodations to smalle them to purchase and transport to market extension, to be a surprised to the construct. Can any one forest late longer that the construct. Can any one forest late longer than the content of the content one to two militant. We will the hard to be covered by the am of the law? And would not the concepunt ascrifton of propertying ruin to many efficaces?

do with the Banks, as what will we do to the country, if we core the Banks. We should enquire what absuid be our action upon the Banks in reference to the great interests in the commenty. Hatty or violent legislation is relation to the Banks, might force them, prematurely, into a reunition of specie payments, to the great fejury of our people.

y of our people.

All agreed that the resumtion of specie payments should be brought about, as soon as practicable, without crests in the country. The reductions of the rate of exchange upon a man and the successful investment of the bills due the Bank at that point, in Eastern Exchange or specie, will overcome the present great obstacle in the way of resumption. The commencement of specie payments by the Banks in New Orisans, that being the great point to which our expulsion is shipped, and whence we derive specie and exchange, with which to meet the circulation of the Banks, would remove the chief of struction to he successful maintainance of specie payments by our Banks. But until the Banks can have a certain resource of specie in the routh, if we force them to open their vaulie at once, we shall endanger the State in the loss of all they have, surround-will not allord a resource of specie.

Your Committee would therefore recommend to the Legislature, the passage of a law restoring the privilege of the Banks, and appointing, and say for the resumption of specie payments, dependent upon the conting-reise set forth in this report, and consistent with the wants and best interests of the Commonwealth.

The guard discovered the movement in time to portially defeat it and thus only Tiger Tail, with three warriors and four morement in time to partially defeat $1, and thus only Tiger Tall, with three warriers and four women; succeeded in effecting their escape,—with and only child, a had offitneen, of Tiger Tall, who broke from the camp, were soon explured, and are now in positization of the army.
