COVINGTON, KENTUCKY, SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1843.

VOLUME I.

SCHOOL TALES.

WILSON'S INDEPENDENT.
See the "Independent,"—

"It is the present time that you are at the school."

"Well, well now, and I will not argue the point with you; as an American, you are right in holding such a belief; but you must still allow me to think there is something not to be despised in ancient and household decent."

"I cannot believe that the descendants of those who for generations have been endowed by God of high abilities, will be more likely to perform magnanimous actions than the sons of the humble plowmen."

"You agree with me precisely, Henri; but we differ in class." I said, "that the children of a family can look back with honor, pride to the deeds of integrity and uprightness, of virtue and holiness, are the signs of nobility; for their parents bear the signs of an Almighty hand."

"Then the son of an honest blacksmith ought to be proud of his birth; is that your opinion?"

"Something very like it," I confess, "Henri; was the origin of the nobles of the old world?"

"Rapin and Voltaire have given them their heritages of broad lands, while Virgil sublimated them to a monarch, or perhaps treacherly to his enemy, was often the price paid for their sounding titles. Had they been ennobled? for their virtues, Henri, and had they transmitted those, together with their pure names, through succeeding generations, then might their descendants have gloried in their birth; but surely you need not be reminded of the black catalogue of crimes which might be ascribed to every generation that inherits nobility."

"The son of an honest blacksmith ought to be proud of his birth; is that your opinion?"

"I am afraid you are right, Henri."

"And that nobility is hereditary."

LICKING VALLEY REGISTER

CHARLES C. LARSON, Editor.

COVINGTON, K. Y.

THE LICKING VALLEY REGISTER

is a weekly newspaper published the first Saturday of each month. It is now issued under the name of the Register, and will continue so until such time as we will fit it to our convenience. Although we have everything to do with us from the understanding at the present time, we are anxious to keep and look forward to a better state of things. We do not ask for anything more than what we have done. An application has been made to the Legislature, and we hope to receive a favorable answer.

The second volume will be reduced in price to two dollars, a sum which two dollars and fifty cents will be reasonably charged.

Our Correspondent has intended to issue his paper monthly, in account of the great interest in the news. An application to the City Council is necessary to insure its continuance.

We are indebted to the New Jersey State of Ohio for the able report of the Committee of Ministers, May 20, and laid on the table.

New York Public Ledger.

The New York Commercial Gazette has been suspended, or changed to, the Post-Leader. This is the business man of the West, a valuable paper. Being a medium of general news, it is highly useful in account of its commercial intelligence.

We call the business man's attention to the New York Stock Exchange, &c., &c., on another page.

Comments of the West Covington Store.—All over the country there is a great dissatisfaction in families using the article in their kitchens. We have not been using stores of different materials in use, but have met with none equal to the QUEEN OF THE WEST, manufactured and sold by Messrs. Daniels & Co., Main Street, Covington. We have had one of these stores in our house, and can with great satisfaction say, it is most excellent, convenient and economical. Appropriate to a kitchen, consuming little wood, and affording all the facilities of heating, boiling and stewing at the same time. We take pleasure in recommending this store, as worthy of being tried.

Marketing Coal.—Master, Fawcett & Company, of Cincinnati, have advertised to market coal in bags and barrels at hard service. We have had them in use for some weeks, and can safely recommend them as a candle-giving, wood-study, clear light, and without the labor of moving about the house to find the right kind of coal. This has, however, been a great expense to us, as we have had to pay extra for the carriage of the bags and barrels, but this difficulty is now removed.

Coal and charcoal.—We learn, at the recent session of the Circuit Court, U. S., recently decided, that the granting of a charter by the Legislature of a State is a contract, which they, in subsequent Legislature, had no right to repeat that they had in due course of time given to the owner of the farm.

Respecting the President.—In our last we treated this subject very lightly, not thinking it possible any member of Congress could be found bold enough to make such a foolish and ridiculous attempt, but we were mistaken.

Mr. Bell, of Virginia, who is an ex-slave, a born, and a gambling, horse-racing, harum scarum kind of a fellow, tells the people he has a strong notion of the thing, and consequently has drawn up 19 charges, specifying the ground work of his proceedings. He should straightway be straitened in a straight jacket, and confined with other junctures.

Canton Circuit Court.

At the recent session of this Court, James Tracy, who was taken up on the 23d June, for robbing, offering an order on the Store, of M. G. Beatty, of this place, from three to thirty dollars, was tried, convicted and sent to the Penitentiary, for three years.

Tracy was also sent to the Penitentiary for robbing, for stealing a silver watch.

Dr. The estimable editor of the Cincinnati Chronicle, thus eloquently closes an account of their excursion through the country.

The progress is great in us in the magnitude and improvement in physical growth and means, if not in happy moral result. One travels three hundred miles in Ohio, and finds he has only seen a fourth of the state. He looks at a county and thinks it larger than a European Principality—the roads at the state and, finds it only one of many roads in the American Union. He looks upon roads of whale, and corn, orchards, and forests, canals and turnpikes, schools and churches, and sees all blessed with the expanse, and the art wielded with sounds of industry! When did all this happen? Within forty years, sixteen hundred thousand people.

The Colonies, then, is magnificent. But, with what shadow? The veil which hides the drama of action, yet may be strained with as much of heavy suspense as the heart itself is still undrawn.

What is every imagination paint in scenes before the world's eyes? But, if they themselves, should not be more heedful of political strife, to prevent difficulties, as without contemplation. There must be a spiritual, as well as physical attachment to the great tree of public liberty.

Charles P. Mitchell.

This Esquire, but now miserably degraded man, was the 15th sentenced to three years imprisonment in the N. Y. Penitentiary, for Perjury. His last visit took place some months ago, and has been at large on tall stilts ever since he was taken from Zanesville, in Ohio, to New York, where he followed up his old trade.

John Bell, Esquire, the Horse.

This Esquire, a clever fellow, the present Esquire of the State of Ohio, was sentenced on the charge of having given a forged check, the value of $100.00, Nov. 11th. On April 1st, he was sentenced to six months imprisonment, and was ordered to pay a fine of $100.00, and costs of his trial, and his confinement in the penitentiary.

It is well known that he was condemned under the most discouraging circumstances, and with prospects involved in gloom and uncertainty. Several attempts had previously been made, which had failed, and in such a way as to destroy public confidence, to raise which was no easy task. On every side we met with obstacles enough to weigh down a view of military enterprise.

We had no cash on hand to defray the necessary expenses of a printing office one month, and as a matter of course, not a few.
