COVINGTON, KY.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1845.

CONSTITUTIONAL ELECTION.

FREDERICKSBURG,
WILLIAM OWLESLEY,
BY FRAZER,FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
ARCHIBALD DIXON,
BY DIXON.

Carteret.—Wanted.

Two or three good, intelligent boys, who understand politics, and are willing to work hard for me, in my campaign. Will give $100 reward for each good and capable boy.

Carteret.—Wanted.

We have in our neighborhood, Mr. Lewis, for late—New Orleans papers, from which place he has recently arrived.

The Leader—The Party at Newark, we are told, was a very grand affair. About seven hundred persons were present, of the whole society of the triangular Club, the Anti-Slavery Society, the Free Soil, and Abolitionists. The management and arrangements reflect much honor upon the Newark fair.

The President's Message.

Ten documents always looked after and read with great interest, and the explanation of them always elicited a hearty round of applause or applauding as it advanced through the other side of the platform of political matters.

Vice-President Taylor's message has been framed with great care. Books of the same size and weight, and the subject most interesting—indeed—in a manner when they have gone to answer the call of duty.
