POETRY.

THE DYING HYMN.
Water is flowing, and the wind is sighing,
And the angels are singing in the sky;
The spirit is leaving the mortal frame,
And the soul is flying to the land of the living.
The heart is leaving the mortal frame,
And the soul is flying to the land of the living.
The heart is leaving the mortal frame,
And the soul is flying to the land of the living.

THE DYING HYMN.

Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord.

THE DYING HYMN.

Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord;
Let the heart be left to the Lord,
And the soul be left to the Lord.

Perhaps there is no state in the Union so richly endowed with natural resources, and so fertile in its soil, as the State of Ohio.
It is a state of great fertility, and its soil is rich in its products. It is a state of great fertility, and its soil is rich in its products. It is a state of great fertility, and its soil is rich in its products.
