THE FARMER'S LIBRARY, for March, has been received. We never open this excellent work, without finding something new, interesting and instructive. It is a model of an Agricultural journal. New York, published by Greeley & McElrath.

LARDNER'S LECTURES.—We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Greeley & McElrath, No. 12 of Dr. Lardner's celebrated Lectures.

The Guest.

Mrs. R. S. Nichol's new Semi-Monthly Journal made its appearance in the Queen City on Saturday last. Mrs. Nichol's name is familiar to America's sweetest songstresses and most charming writers in prose literature; and her new journal gives promise of fully sustaining her high reputation. The Guest is beautifully "set up," displaying both taste and judgment in its typographical appearance. The contents of this, the first number, possess no ordinary degree of interest, but without intending to draw invidious distinctions, we must be permitted to express our preference for the charming contributions of the fair Editress, and the soul-thrilling poem, "Despair," by our friend, G. W. Cutter Esq. The Guest will ever be welcome to our table. It is published at the low price of $1.50 per annum. Orders must be addressed to W. Nichols, Cin. Ohio.

Foreign News.

Another ship has arrived bringing news from England. The Oregon question is the absorbing topic in the British papers, but no new developments are discoverable. The markets remain about as heretofore. It is said that Peel will be able to carry his reform measures, without serious difficulty.

See the advertisement of a gentleman desirous of obtaining a situation as Tutor in a private family. The advertiser is highly recommended, and no doubt would discharge the duties of his station, with fidelity and ability.

Arthur's Magazine.

Arthur, for March, has been laid on our table by Mr. J. J. Gallusha, Western publisher, West Fourth st. Cincinnati. It is rich in embellishments, and in literary contents unsurpassed by any Magazine in America. Copies can be at any obtained at the store of Mr. Gallusha.

Job in Nashville.

We copy the following from the Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday morning:

NASHVILLE, 15th March, 1846.

This city exhibited a scene, on yesterday afternoon and night, of one of the most cruel mobs it has ever been a lot to witness. It originated in a case of slander about the wife of Mr. Porterfield, who attacked Mr. Judson—who they say has formerly published a paper in your city—famously known as Ned Buntline—and fired three times without hitting, when Judson drew and shot him about the eye.

It caused great excitement—Judson was taken to the Court House for the purpose of hanging him in the square, when a brother of Porterfield came up to shoot him. Judson ran to refuge in the City Hotel, having not less than twelve to fifteen shots fired at him without touching him. The mob still pursued him, he ran up to the third story, and jumped out at the back way, breaking one of his thighs in the fall and throwing him senseless. Supposing him to be dying, he was taken to the jail.

Last night about 10 o'clock, finding that he was still alive, the mob broke into the jail; maimed and almost naked, they threw him into the street, to be hung. He begged for a minister—which was denied him—he feared not death, but requested to be shot, and begged that if there was any gentleman present that he would shoot him. They took him to the square and run him up over the rail of an awning post, the rope broke and he fell, when he was taken back to jail, where he lies to die some time during the night.

Mr. Porterfield was buried this afternoon—Take it all in all, it was worthy of the reign of Terror in France. I was present, and attended closely to all that occurred at last night's proceedings.

Yours, &c., C.

The State of Texas.

The Legislature of this new State assembled at Austin, on the 20th ult., and was organized by the election of Gen. Burleson as President of the Senate, and Mr. Crump as Speaker of the House of Representatives. On counting the vote for Governor, it appeared that Gen. Henderson had received 9,910 votes, and Dr. Miller 1,672.

On the 18th Governor Henderson was duly installed into office, in the presence of the Legislature and a large concourse of spectators. The ceremony was unusually solemn and imposing. After prayer had been offered up to the throne of Grace, President Jones delivered his valedictory address. The oath of office was then administered to the Governor elect by the speaker of the House of Representatives, when the banner of the Republic descended from its position above the Capitol, to give place to the Stars and Stripes, and a peal of artillery announced that the Republic no longer existed, and that the annexation of Texas to the American Union was complete.

The Mormons.

DEPARTED AT LAST.—We learn, says the Warsaw Signal of the 4th inst., that the Saints took up their line of march, from their encampment in Iowa, on Saturday morning last. About 2,000 went along.

Letters may now be mailed for Texas without pre-payment of postage.

The Flare-up.

Great excitement has prevailed at Washington during the last eight or ten days. The speech of Mr. Haywood, in which he declared that Mr. Polk is willing to settle the Oregon question, on the line of 49 degrees north latitude, acted like a bombshell thrown in the midst of a quiet multitude. Allen, and Cass, and Hannegan took this declaration in high dudgeon. It didn't suit their ultra-views, and they forthwith demanded whether the President had authorized Mr. Haywood to make so startling a declaration. The Senator from N. Carolina maintained himself with admirable self-possession, and denied their right to catch him on the subject. Not satisfied with this state of things, the fire-eaters immediately beset Mr. Polk, determined to ascertain from him the information Mr. Haywood had declined furnishing. But even here they were doomed to disappointment. A correspondent states that the most definite answer that Mr. HANNEGAN could get out of the President was: "That he had authorized no one to speak for him; that his position was defined in his official communications, to which he should adhere." Poor fellow! What is he to do, surrounded as he is by such conflicting advisers? Never was there a truer saying than, that

"Uneasy rests the head, that wears a crown."

The condition of the Democracy is thus clearly portrayed by a correspondent: "The harmonious Democracy" is now in that condition that it is extremely problematical whether it can be kept together even by the "cohesive power of public plunder." With one division of it, the whole of Oregon or none is a cardinal measure. These are the "fire-eaters;" they are mainly from the West, and though few in number are active, energetic, determined, noisy, and for the most part sincere. In all, they now in the Senate, with their northern co-laborers, count from 12 to 13. If, however, a treaty should be negotiated on 49 they would be reduced to about two-thirds that number, as those from the North would then find it impossible to resist the leading principle of this action, which is, never to be forced in opposition to any measure of a "democratic" administration. The free-trade anti-tariff democracy forms another division, and these in the Senate with Mr. Calhoun at their head, constitute an uncertain variable quantity, which may be set down at from four to nine; but not that a larger number of the so-called Democratic Senators will go for a repeal of the tariff, but there is only about that number who would not just as soon go for protection as free-trade if those administering the government happened to be in favor of it. All these are for moderation and for peaceful adjustment of the Oregon difficulty by negotiation and compromise. Other Democratic Senators are also for negotiation and compromise, and against a pertinacious claim to the whole territory, from considerations of what in justice and equity is due to the respective rights of the two parties. Mr. Benton, in my opinion is of this class, and possibly Mr. Haywood, though were I to speak my sentiments on this point truly, I should be compelled to say that his position is strengthened by the knowledge that it is in accordance with that of the President, if indeed it is not caused by it.

Of these different divisions the Fire-eaters are just at this time in a state of great excitement in consequence of the, by authority, speech of Mr. Haywood. They denounce the President, they anathematize the offending Senator, they always careful to include Mr. CALHOUN and his differential quantity, and they threaten to resolve parties into their original elements; and of them to combine a party more radically democratic than the existing one whose motto shall be "the whole of Oregon or none." The evidences are abundant, that one of these periods, so common in the life of Mr. CALHOUN, has arrived to the dominant party, and that but a few more months will witness its violent disruption. Aside from these irreconcilable differences on the Oregon question there is a want of unity in the party arising from a want of knowledge to the true position of the President not only on this question but upon other leading measures of party policy. He confides in no body, and no body confides in him. He has no friends and is a friend to no one. He is secret, selfish, distrustful, and false. He has no strength with his party beyond what arises from the possession of the patronage of the Government. He is in fact a Tylerized President.

The Licking Convention.

We sincerely hope that the friends of Licking Improvement will be prompt in responding to the call for a convention on the 21st of April at this city, to take this important subject into consideration. If the time suggested is not the most suitable, let some other day be named. One thing, however, is all-important—decisive and speedy action. Licking, we again say, must be made navigable.

We are firmly convinced of one thing, which we would like to impress upon Western Merchants. It is this: That, taking all the circumstances into consideration, country dealers can do as well, if not better, by purchasing of the Wholesale Houses in Cincinnati, than by going East for that purpose. The Wholesale Houses of Cincinnati are now well supplied with every variety of goods. Among the best filled houses, is that of our friends, Peter A. White & Co. We had the pleasure of examining their stock, the other day, and we assure the public that it is large, various, and truly beautiful, and a merchant can make as good a selection from it as in the eastern cities. We bespeak for Messrs. White & Co. the patronage of our friends.

The Slander.

A short time since, as will be seen by reference to our Congressional reports, the Washington Times, edited by Mr. Robinson, formerly of the Cincinnati Enquirer, put forth a charge, that an intrigue had been entered into by certain Senators to force the President to surrender our claim to Oregon above the 49th degree, and that the terms of this plot had been arranged at the table of the British Minister. Senator Allen is said to be the owner of the Times and it is believed by some that he was guilty to the slander. Senator Colquitt, whose name was mentioned by the Times as one of the plotters, denounced the author of the charge as a liar and a scoundrel. Still the charge was reiterated, and the Senate have appointed a committee to investigate the affair. The committee are now engaged in the performance of their duty, and will report in a day or two.

Mr. Polk has removed Mr. Miller, brother-in-law of Tyler, from the office of Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Party Recklessness.

Every true Patriot must deplore the extent to which party influence is carried in the management of our national affairs. In such a question as that now pending in Congress, in relation to Oregon, party feeling should be quelled. We have often declared, and we here repeat it, that this is no party question. Affecting, as it does, the minutest interests of the country, as well as the largest, it rises above all party, and should be no considered, so discussed. And we are proud to say that the entire Whig party in the United States Senate, and a noble few of the Democrats have so regarded it. But pained are we to say, that the mass of the Democratic party seem to have looked upon this great question solely in a party light, and have been actuated in considering it, by party grounds. Their appeals, as has been truly remarked by an able contemporary, are all in the name of "the friends of the President," the party, and not the country—and Mr. Polk's duty as President on a great national question—a question fraught with all the evils of possible war—is argued, not from the constitution—nor from the injunctions of morality and law—but from the Baltimore Convention, and the expectations of party.

We can conceive of no greater treason to right or to country, than such appeals on such an occasion and in such a case. Mr. Hannegan says, "if the President is not committed to Oregon up to 54 40, and does not mean to go for that, he is betraying the standard put into his hands by the Baltimore Convention?" What is the Baltimore Convention to this whole country? What are obligations under it, in comparison with those due to his oath as president, and to the interests, and peace of the American people? But as a matter of fact—as has been more than once heretofore insisted upon by this paper—Mr. Polk has already according to the reasoning of Mr. Hannegan, betrayed his "standard"—by the offer through Mr. Buchanan to settle the controversy upon the line of 49—and having done so once, it seems almost absurd and inconsequential at this time of day to make it matter of reproval that he may still be willing to settle on the same terms.

Now we appeal to the candid of all parties, whether such conduct does not deserve the unmitigated condemnation of the people? Ought not these men, holding as they do, the destinies of the Republic in their hands, to look more to the country, and less to party? Ought not the interests, the well, the happiness, of the people to be held of paramount importance, above every other consideration? And are not the men, who thus trifle with the peace of the world for the low and paltry ends of party, recreant to the high trust confided to them, and fit objects of a people's wrath and indignation?

CONGRESS.

In Senate, on Monday the 9th, Mr. Colquitt desired to call the attention of the Senate for a few moments to an article which appeared in the Times (late U. S. Journal) a few days since in reference to his resolutions. The thoughts there expressed were never conceived but by a scoundrel, or written but by a slanderous pen—and the Editor, or whoever else may be the author of this infamous article, could not think him harsh in saying so.

Mr. Colquitt said that he had consulted no one, except Mr. Crittenden—no member of either House—nor had he had any meeting, formal or informal, relative to his resolutions; and so far from his having connected his resolutions at the British Minister's table, as stated in the article referred to, he did not even know him and had never dined in his company anywhere. He pronounced the whole article a base tissue of falsehoods, and gave the writer (be he the Editor or one occupying a high station) a skinning that he will not soon forget. He said he should send him forth to the world branded as a liar and a slanderer of the Senate.

Mr. Crittenden said a few words in confirmation of Mr. Colquitt's statement.

The Senate then proceeded to the special order of the day and the Oregon debate was resumed.

Mr. Evans was entitled to the floor, and addressed the Senate, without concluding his remarks, until the hour of adjournment.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the River and Harbor Bill, and after considerable debate the committee rose.

On the 10th, in the Senate, the Oregon question was debated by Mr. Evans. Mr. Johnston of Md., obtained the floor, when the Senate went into Executive session.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the River and Harbor Bill.

Mr. Farns, of Ohio, continued the debate upon the bill. The House soon presented more vacant seats than occupied. Mr. F. nevertheless went on to argue the question, and to contend that there was power in the Constitution to make appropriations for works of internal improvement.

The bill was further debated, when the committee rose and the House adjourned.

On the 11th, in the Senate, the bill granting alternate sections of land to the State of Michigan for works of Internal Improvement was debated for a short time, and then laid aside.

The Oregon question was debated at length by Mr. Johnston, of Maryland, after which Mr. Atchison, of Missouri, obtained the floor and the Senate adjourned.

In the House, the proceedings of the day were unimportant. The River and Harbor Bill was further discussed in Committee of the Whole.

On the 13th, the Senate was not in session. The House, soon after 11 o'clock, went into Committee of the Whole, and the debate on the River and Harbor Bill was resumed. Mr. Thompson, of Pa., led off, followed by Mr. Wood, of N. Y.; Mr. Vinson, of Ohio; Mr. Adams, of Mass.; and Mr. Stevenson, of Maine.

Mr. Douglas, of Ill., next took the floor, but it was abandoned by Mr. Ewing, of Pa. In the heat of the conversation which then ensued between these gentlemen, Mr. Douglas said, in a very earnest tone, "it is false." An exciting scene followed—the most earnest which has taken place for a long time. The collision was between Mr. Douglas and Mr. Woodward of S. C. and Mr. D. and Mr. Seddon and Mr. D. and Mr. Ewing.

Towards the close of the explanation which followed, there was again great confusion, when, finally, Mr. Ewing obtained the floor, and between him and Mr. Douglas there were mutual explanations and a taking back of the unparliamentary epithet "it is false."

The Bombshell.

The Alexandria (D. C.) Gazette speaks as follows of the effect of Mr. Haywood's speech in the Senate on the 5th inst:

Senator Haywood's speech has burst like a bombshell in the camp of the ultra Oregon men of both Houses, and has thrown them into the utmost consternation and confusion. The debate that took place at the conclusion of his speech will show the effect. It is an evident fact that he speaks as calmly that they know not which way to turn for consolation. Mr. Hannegan, indeed, hypothetically accuses the President, in consequence of this speech, of treachery and falsehood. It is worthy of remark, too, in this connection, that the "whole of Oregon" resolutions in Pennsylvania and several other States have been put to sleep. We hinted some weeks since that Mr. Polk might play with this important subject a little too long, and find himself instructed by his friends in the State Legislature against any settlement short of 54 deg. 40 min. and it would seem our warning has not been disregarded. The whole subject is becoming not only highly interesting, but very exciting.

Mr. Bullitt.

The committee in the Louisiana Legislature reported against this gentleman's claim to a seat in that body. A new election has been ordered by the Governor.

Sam. Houston and Thos. J. Rusk, have been elected Senators of the United States from the State of Texas.

New Hampshire.

Returns from the late election in this State are yet incomplete. They indicate that there has been no choice for Governor, and that the Independent, or Hale party, will have a majority in the Legislature, by whom a U. S. Senator will be elected.

The Steamer Blue Wing recently ascended the Ky. River as high as Estill county.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday evening, a skiff was upset, opposite this city, in the Ohio river. Several gentlemen were in the skiff, one of whom was drowned. His name we have not learned. Mr. McFarland, of Cincinnati was saved in a state of insensibility, but has nearly recovered.

Rolling—A Safe Mode.

The Washington Union, in framing the indictment against the National Intelligencer, holds the following language: "We charge the Intelligencer with having done that which, without any reference to party relations, is a gross and monstrous dereliction of all patriotic duty in a public journal; in that, pending important negotiations, full of difficulty and peril, between our government and Great Britain, it has systematically taken the British side, as to our title to the territory in dispute. In proof of this, we say that the Intelligencer quoted and approved the assertion of the Journal of Commerce, that 'the British side of England north of 49° is better than our own.'"

These two last facts are the Union's. The three first are our own. We will show one more fact than the Union affords. Bulling appears to be the order of the day, and we are determined to have our share of it. Bulling is the grand panacea—so fight if you dare! If the Union's bullying can frighten the Union, besides—whosoever don't bully, takes the "British side." He is a poor hand at jockeying, that claims only what is his own, or only what he expects to get. Jockeying is a great help to bullying. The rule is, if you want a part, claim the whole. Say it's all yours, and you will have it. Then perhaps you will get a little more than belongs to you. If you do, crow away, and tell how you have out-witted your opponent. As for justice and equity, they are obsolete terms. National claims, on the other hand, drive a good bargain, and trust Fortune for the rest.

To be serious—we have read every thing which has appeared in the Union about the 49th parallel, and our title to the country north of it, but we have seen nothing which at all convinces us of the incorrectness of the position above quoted, and which the Union has so often attempted to scout down, because it cannot argue it down.—N. York Jour. of Commerce.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In endeavoring to improve upon the mind of our citizens the superior efficacy of this invaluable remedy for Consumption and Pulmonary Diseases in general, we wish to assure our readers that we are actuated solely by a desire to benefit the afflicted. Our faith in the remedy is founded upon the universal success attending its use, and we fully believe that the most faithful and incredulous, after witnessing its surprising virtues, will no longer doubt that "Consumption may and can be cured."

Such indeed is the fact, and so astonishing have been the cures effected by this Balsam, that it may in justice be considered the greatest triumph in the "healing art" that has yet been achieved. And we are satisfied, from our experience, that there are thousands now lingering upon the brink of the grave under a disease of lungs, in some form, who may be rescued from an early death, and restored to perfect health by the timely use of this medicine.

See advertisement.

AFTER ALL Medicines have failed, Doctor Duncan's Expectant Remedy must do the Healing and Curative business, after all. Why is it that so many persons are in the habit of gasping after the many deleterious nostrums published in the papers, put up by persons who have no knowledge either of the theory or science of medicine; neither could they be forced to swallow their own mixing which they intend for others? (Almost daily are these persons, calling on our office whose countenances and debilitated structure denote the evils of the poisonous poison they have taken in their affliction. If our grave yards could speak they would astonish the world of the vast amount carried there from the effects of poisonous medicines administered to them by persons who have grown wealthy upon the credulity of those whom they have duped.

Let it be borne in mind that "Dr. Duncan's Expectant Remedy" is well known throughout Europe, and approved of by the faculty, both in Dublin, Edinburgh, and a part of London, and has not the approbation of Physicians generally throughout the United States. It is therefore to be hoped that persons suffering from disease of the Lungs or any of the symptoms that may likely lead to Consumption, that they immediately obtain Dr. Duncan's valuable medicine and yet be spared.

WE will commence, on Tuesday, the 28th of April next, and continue from day to day, to sell all the Personal and Real property conveyed to us in trust by John Andrews, consisting in part of a set of Carding Machine, a new Piano, an excellent Lumber, five proof Saws, Mith Cows, Work Oxen and Wagons. The Real estate comprises a large Manufacturing Mill, Saw Mill, Store House, and Residence, one of which was built for, and is now occupied as a Tavern; 800 acres of Land, most of which is well set in grass, and a Ferry over Licking River, which is very valuable. The fertility of the soil around Sherburn, the excellence of its woodwork, its fine location, being on Licking River, at the point the present road and proposed turnpike crosses the river; and the fact that it is acknowledged to be the best stand in North Kentucky, for a Store, renders it an admirable property for a merchant, for manufacturers of Flour, Hemp, Wool or Leather, and for the use of every kind. In the hands of energetic men this property must become as valuable as any country or village property in the State.—Public sentiment demands, and will cause the completion of the navigation of Licking river, which must increase the value of this property ten fold, as it is the natural outlet for the trade of the rich upper counties. Look No. 11 is located here.

CINCINNATI, J. M. 4, 1845
I HEREBY certify that I was about 12 years old, I gradually became deaf in both ears, so that in a few months I found it almost impossible to hear, unless in the very loudest tones of voice, and remained in that situation until I had attained the age of eighteen years, when I heard of Scarpa's Acoustic Oil, I immediately obtained a bottle, which I used, and in a few days I was able to hear, and am happy to say it has acted like magic, and I am now as good as new.
Any one wishing further information of my case, or any other remarkable case, will find me by calling at my residence, Concord street, first door above Second street.

TO PREVENT MISTAKES,
WHICH are frequently attended with serious consequences, citizens are advised to call on the undersigned to find the CINCINNATI NATILOCK DISPENSARY, ESTABLISHED IN 1838, for the true and correct preparation of the DR. BROWN'S Compound Syrup of Sassafras and Wild Cherry, and all other medicines affecting the organs of generation in either sex.

DR. BROWN.
The Founder and Proprietor of this Institution, having been regularly educated to the medical profession, and been for some time in general practice, now confides his attention to the treatment of these private and delicate complaints for which his opportunities and experience peculiarly qualify him. ELEVEN YEARS assiduously devoted to the study and treatment of these complaints, (during which time he has had more patients than all other practitioners combined), amply qualifies him to offer assurances of a speedy, permanent and satisfactory cure to all afflicted with Gonorrhea, Syphilis, Mercurial Disease, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Weakness, and all other affections of the urinary system.

Dr. Brown would inform those afflicted with Gonorrhea, which have become chronic by time, or aggravated by the use of any of the common nostrums of the day, that their complaints can be radically and thoroughly cured, he having given his careful attention to the treatment of such cases, and succeeded in hundreds of instances in curing persons of inflammation of the neck of the bladder, seminal discharges, and partial or total prostration of the virile powers, which often result from the neglect of these complaints. He respectfully invites such as have been long and unsuccessfully treated by others, to consult him, when every satisfaction will be given them, and their cases will be cured in a short time, and in an intelligent manner, pointed out by long experience, study, and investigation, which it is impossible for those engaged in general practice of medicine to give any class of disease.

Dr. Brown is the only regularly educated surgeon in Cincinnati, who gives his whole attention to these complaints. His diplomas and certificates can be seen at his office.
N. B. Patients of either sex living at a distance, by stating their disease in writing, giving all the symptoms, can obtain medicine with directions for use, by addressing S. C. Brown M. D., at post paid and enclosing a fee.
Office: Corner of Court and Greenup Streets, and Lawrence, at its junction with East Front street near the Newport Ferry Landing, Cincinnati.
