The window which was broken and patched in many places, looked into a small piece of ground almost covered with water. Not a sound was I AM NOW re- to be heard, either within the house or withceiving my Spring and Summer stock out. The young surgeon sat down by the fire-place to await the result of his first professional visit. He had not remained in this position many minutes, when the noise of some approaching vehicle struck his ear. It stopped: the stree door was opened; a low talking succeeded accompanied with a shuffling noise of foot-steps along the passage on the stairs, as if two or three men were carrying some heavy body to the room above. The creaking of the stairs a few seconds afterwards, announced that the new-comers, having completed their task, whatever it was, were leaving the house. The door was again closed, and the former silence was restored.

Another five minutes el psed, and the surgeon had just resolved to explore the house, in search of some one to whom he might make his errand known, when the room door opened, and his last night's visiter, dressed in exactly the same manner, with the veil lowered as before, motioned him to advance.-The singular height of her form, coupled with the circumstance of her not speaking, caused the idea to pass across the brain for an in stant that it might be a man disguised in woman's attire. The hysteric sobs which issued from beneath the veil, and the convulsive attitude of grief of the whole figure, however, at once exposed the absurdity of the suspicion, and he hastily followed. The woman led the way up stairs to the front room, and paused at the door to let him enter first. It was scantily furnished with an old deal box, a few chairs, and a tent bedstead without hanging or cross-rails, which was covered with a patch-work counterpane. The dim light admitted through the curtain which he had noticed from the outside ren dered the objects in the room so indistinct, and communicated to all of them so uniform a hue, that he did not at first perceive the ob-

"That I call God to witness, he has," said the woman passionately, "piteously, inhumanly murdered!" "By whom?" said the snrgeon, seizing the woman by the arm. "Look at the butcher's mark, and then ask me!" she replied. The surgeon turned his face toward the bed and bent over the body, which lay full in the light of the window. The throat was swollen, and a blue, livid mark encircled it. The truth flashed suddenly upon him

"This is one of the men who were hung this morning!" he exclaimed, turning away wit a shudder. "It is," replied the woman; with a cold,

The mother, a widow, without friends or money, had denied herself the necessaries of life, to bestow them upon her orphan boy, who, unmindful of her orayers, and forgetful of the incessant auxiety of mind, and voluntary starvation of body which she had endured for him, had plunged into a career of dissipation and crime. which had resulted in his own death by the hangman's hands, and caused his mother's shame and incurable insanity. It was our painful lot, on an occasion well known to metropolitan readers, to witness the fervent anxiety with which the relative of a condemned criminal, when the concentric rings the same material. A handful of fire, un-guarded by any fender, was burning in the sought and relinquished hope after hope, that in some way his life might yet be saved; and it is perhaps owing to this circumstance that the preceding narrative made so deep an impression upon our mind. And now let us ask, how many persons. familiar with Pickwick, Oliver Twist, Nicholas Nickelby, Barnaby Rudge, Chuzzlewit, etc., are aware that "The Black Veil" is by the same author, and was first published years before the earliest of those works were written?

POTOMAC. IRELAND-Famine-Distress-Public Meeting-Relief Measures-The Irish papers are filled with the most gloomy accounts of the condition of the people of Ireland, owing to the failure of the potento crop. The Clare Journal gives a gloomy picture of the state of distress in that district, as "We feel it absolutely necessary, from the present state of the country, to call upon the government to take immediate and decisive steps to satisfy the clamors of a starving people. Provisions are rising in price ever day. As for potatoes, there are very little indeed in the market, and it is almost dangerous to make use of those offered for sale. Not one stone of potatoes can be obtained, without some of them be found tainted; and even these bring 7½d. Indee! we are strongly inclined to believe, that for the sake of their health, they should not be allowed to use this diseased food."

The state of Fermanagh-the country of all others in Ireladd where there is more to be said in favor of the landlords-seems to be as unsatisfactory as any of the Southern or Western districts. The following is from the Earn Packet:

"On Wednesday; the 8th inst., about 1000 of the laboring peasantry entered the village of Newtownbutler, and having proceeded to the police barrack, called for the constable in charge of that station, to whom they stated that they and their families were perishing for want of food-that they hitherto had waited patiently in hopes something would be done for their relief by the neighboring gentry; but no measure having been adopted to give hem employment, and thereby save them from starvation, their only alternative was to take by force what they could not otherwise obtain .- The constable remonstrated with them on the evil consequences that would attend a violation of the law, and told them that Lord Erne was on that day gone to Enniskillen to hold a meeting for the purpose of adopting immediate measures for their relief, upon which they all returned peaceably to their respective places

He has turnedout six inspectors in the Boston custom house, with the allegation that other persons had been appointed to them "by authority of the Secretary of the Treasury." removals it would seem, have greatly disgusted the Polk party in Boston; and the ost publishes a letter which Mr. Collector Murton gave one of these officers when he first went into the custom house, and which contains this passage: "I will not deny myself the pleasure to express my confidence in your honor, your integrity, your moral character, your patriotism, and your capacity to perform with correctness and fiddelity any trust you may assume. And yet he was obliged to turn him out of the very office he had thus so strongly recommended him for! Truly may it be said, "hard is the way" of the office-holder, under Democratic rule .- Low. THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.-The N. York Sun of the 6th inst, says: Mr. Walker has been in town some days, borrowing money. He applied at the Bank of the State of New York last week, for $700,000 which was loaned him at six per cent. per annum. The money is to be taken from this city in specie, to be expended in Mexico. The Secretary of the Treasury is also drawing the specie from the banks and locking it up in Mr. Fouck's iron Vaults under the Custom House.

While our own merchants and mechanics are suffering for want of facilities in their business, the banks are loaning half millions and millions to Mr. Walker, to be sent into Mexico, or locked up in Mr. Bouck's vaults! Truly, this is a strange condition of things. The business people of this city are deprived of their usual bu-

SABBATH ADVICE. To Ministers.—Don't let your prayers exceed ten minutes nor your sermous half an hour. Never give out more than five stanfate. For one, I know not how the admir-zes to be sung by the choir: read notices before the sermon, and if you have omitted any the deacons will have time to give no tice. Besides notices after the sermon may gregation.

> To PARENTS.—Don't carry crying babies to church, nor larger children who have a cough, or cannot keep from snoring.

To Young Men .- Go directly to and from the church, without hanging about the doors; It looks badly for a young men to wait till the congregation are all in before he parades up the aisles.

To Lantes.-Never go to church to be seen and to show off a new dress. It is no place for this purpose. Don't twist round your head to look at the house, when you should be hearing the sermon. It attracts the attention of others and disturbs those who wish to hear. The church is no place to display dry goods, carrying smelling bottles and pepermints, or to faint away. member this and act accordingly.—Portland

Destructive Fire in Vicksburgh: The Whig of the 29th ult. says:

Again it is our painful duty to announce a very destructive fire in our city. So for as we are able to learn, the fire originated in a store occupied by some Jews, about daylight this morning, three doors from the Post Of-fice. The whole square between Jackson and Grove streets, was consumed together with the buildings on the East side of Washington street. The amount of property destroyed cannot now be sustained.

The sufferers are, so far as we can learn, Planter's Bank, Thomas Rigby, Livingston, Hanna & Co., B. Phillips, shoemaker, N. G. Watts, Clothin , &c. J. N. Cradduck, Yeatman. Woods & Co. James Gwinn, Langhlin, Searles & Co. McCowell & Thomas; W. C. Johnson, Coleman & Arthur, Law Library of Saml. Hilderbrand, W. B. Sloan's law library, W. C. Smedes, N. D. Coleman; and J. Barker, New Orleans. The three latter losing fine brick houses each; Mr. Barker's known as the Water Works Bank. By great exertions the fire was confined to the two squares mentioned. The Servinel office was saved only by the untiring exertions of the Firemen which protected the two adjoining squares. A large amount of bagging and rope was consumed in the store of Laughlin, Searles & Co. The papers, letters, mails, &c., in the post office, are understood to be GENERAL FLOURNOY TO FATHER MATHEW Cork, August 29, 1816.

My Dear Sir-Having lately been a member of the World's Temperance Convention, at London, I have now come to Cork as the President of the Kentucky State Temperance Society, to invite you to visit us, across the Atlantic. This latter object I deem of paramount importance. Under your own personal auspices, I doubt not, the cause of emperance may be made to triumph for more signally than it has ever yet done in the new world. I can assure you that our own great advocate of temperance—Edward C. Delavan, (himself a host,) and all America besides will greet your arrival most cordially .- Will you now have the kinndness to say whether

FATHEW MATHEW'S REPLY: Cork, August 31, 1846;

Hon and Dear Gen. T. C. Flourney:
Whilst I express my grateful acknowl? dgement of your exceeding condescension; in being the bearer of the much prized invi tation of my most respected and beloved friends, in the States of America, I must solicit your pardon for saying, that your visit has been to me a source of great anxiety. I am most destrous to witness the hap-piness, the fortunate people of your great and prosperous country enjoy, and to unite with your benevolent, self-denying citizens, in diffusing more widely the observance of the evangelical virtue of temperance. It would even cause me a bitter pang, if I was denied the hope of devoting there a por tion of my life to that sacred mission: yet; see obstacles and difficulties, and doubts of every side. A little time, I confident trust, will leave me free to gratify my i clination, and to cross the wide Atlantic.

Please, honored dear General, to convey Mr. Delavan and to "all America," my her felt thanks and fervent aspirations, for progressive prosperity and greatness of glorious commonwealth.

Oct. 16, 1816 My letter this week will be short. I have no particular news to communicate. Our Circuit Court is still sitting, but there have been no criminal cases tried this week. The time has been occupied by a case wherein money was involved, and a detail could not interest your readers. The Sable Harmonists kindly consented to give another concert on last Monday night, to the no little edification of their audience, and still more gratification of their hungry purses; they offered a reward of a splendid silver cup for the best original conundrum, and our so called wits went to work, and many a poor fellow spent a sleep less night in trying to muster up his ideas to the winning point, but alas! the more he tried, the more the ideas would nt come. A goodly number of them, however, sent in the feeble progeny of their travailing brains and such a mass of wit, (I call it wit until I can find some word to do better,) was certainly n ver before heaped up together, it was de cided at last that one of them should have our minds contracted by jealously; these the cup, not because it was good, but because I believe I have given you the principal gossip of the city, ex cept that the goods and effects of Schuman the German Dentist, Merchant etc., are advertised for sale by virtue of a decree in chancery; and strange to say, the absconding mer. chant, has not yet returned, so in his absence the "Philistines," called "creditors", have seized upon the "spoils" and are going to sell them as mentined above; his house i occupied by an enterprising Yankee, lately from the "Queen City." I forgot to mention before that in addition to Schuman's 'patronizing" all his friends who would sell on credit, that he borrowed a fine breast pin from one of his parlicular friends, worth $100, and the loaner is artless enough to think that he will certainly return it, as he did not buy it, but "only borrowed it."

From the Cincinnati Chronicle. Cincinnati and Covington Bridge.

E. D. MANSFIELD, Esq: Sir:-I am happy to observe that you still maintain the importance and utility of a Bridge acrose the Ohio at this point, and hope you will continue to urge the subject upon your readers. It is only a matter of astonishment to me, that any citizen of Cir cinuati should oppose. We have made great exertions to extend the facilities of trade and intercourse in every other direction, and why should we not secure the trade of so rich a country as the heart of Kentucky? If the citizens of Covington should object to a Bridge, there would be nothing strange in their position; for they cannot draw much trade from us, but all their "wholesale busi mess will find its way to this city. The Lexington turnpike road will soon be completed, and when that is done, Covington must be the place of deposit for the heavy productions of the interior without a Bridge because the enormous wagons that now go to Louisville, can never go up or down our river banks, nor cross on the present form of boats. Consequently Covington must become a wholesale place, for warehouses, and mercantile establishments will always be found where business demands them.

not the first, in business and enterprise. It is business that gives value to property, and cant, and you reduce the value of property in that proportion. It is therefore the policy of properly men to encourage every facility that increases our business. The contracted views of a few speculators in real estate cannot prevent the natural spread of our increasing population; and the more room we occupy, the larger that proportion will be. Where one citizen moves over the river, we receive twenty or more by the rush of emigration; for Cincinnati is, and will continue to be, the centre of attraction, so long as we improve the facilities of intercourse. The Miami Canal has increased the prosperity of Dayton and other towns in the interior, but our city is still the gainer by their trade Alleghany-town, with her three bridges and acqueduct, has not injured the city of Pittsburgh; nor has Brooklyn diminished the prosperity of New York. All those extensions have only increased the population that depend on the original centre for supplies. Cincinnati is now the centre of an ex tensive trade, her population is destined to arrangement-excellent all round. cover all the level ground, and even the hills on both sides of the river. Shall we separate ourselves from the opposite towns. Jay obstacles or prejudice, and render them rivals in business; or shall we bind them to us by the ties of friendship and interest!

Whatever may be the opinion of property holders on the subject of a bridge, the merchants and mechanics of our city are deeply interested in its accomplishment. They are the men who give value to property; their interest is the interest of the whole community, and ought to prevail on all occasions.

There is another portion of our community (but happily a small one,) who object to a bridge because there are slaves York Journal of Commerce makes an anin Kentucky. Our city has lost many millions of dollars by that unfortunate delu- heart of every "hard" in the land. 'It says: sion, and if the sentiment prevailed here, we should lose the whole trade of the day when the door of the Sub-Treasury was South. Kentucky did not refuse to defend unlocked, and behold there was not, a dollar South. Rentucky and not recuse to detend sunocked, and benow there was not, a dollar the State of Ohio, when the British and Indians, were upon us; she shed her best blood to protect our borders, and would do blood to protect our borders, and would do it again at a moment's warning. Shall it might serve as a nest egg!

we indulge this bigoted prejudice against a people so noble and generous, because they have happened to inherit a pernicious incumbrance! If we had never disturbed that subject, Kentucky would have been in the progress of emancipation; but they are a people not to be forced even to pursue their own interest.

I have mentioned this subject by particular request, and hope it will not again be urged against the welfare of our city.

There were strong objections to the charter for this Bridge in the Legislature of Kentucky; the influence of Louisville and Maysville were arrayed against it, because it would divert a large amount of their tade to this city. Shall we unite with that influence and pursue that selfish and exclusive policy, which has blighted the prospects of Louisville! That city was pased upon a great obstruction, and she has been in favor of obstructions ever since Our policy has been the reverse of this, and we now enjoy the results. Let not our views be limited by the opposite shore, nor hills will encircle one great city, united by the others were worse than it was. It reads several bridges, and by all the ties of in

From the Bowling Green Press.

The application for "Benefit of Clermade before Judge Graham, in the case of the Negro, Preston; convicted of barnburn-ing, was refused. The Court was of opinion that the Virginia Act of 1789, as further defined by section 20th of a subsequent Act of but the farmers and other laboring men would the year, 1798 (page 1475, vol 2 of the Kennot think for a moment of voting for laws to suppress gambling; so let them go ahead and suppress gambling; so vol. of the Statutes)—and that the law of 1789 was in force in this State by virtue of the 6th article and 8th sections of the Constitution, and so remained till the passage of the Act of 1802, by which, (see sections 19 and 34) benefit of Clergy was entirely abolished. The last Act is on page 1282, vol. 2. of the Kentucky Statutes.

Sentence of death was accordingly passed on the prisoner. He will be executed in the vicinity of this place on the 6th day of November next, between the hours of 10 and 2 clock. We have been thus particular in giving the decision of the Judge, because the question seems to be a new one and has recently been decided differently by different We have now the authority of Judges. ludge Lusk and ludge Graham against the right to benefit of Clergy by slaves in this Commonwealth, and that of Judge R. A Buckner and Judge Simpson in its favor. It is to be hoped that the Legislature will. at its next session, settle the question by

From the Maysville Eagle. A MAJOR IN LIMBO .- Our city readers have not forgotten their regula rannual visitor, Maj. Dunn, teaher of the broad-sword from 30 to 324, as in lots and quality. exercise. He got into "trouble" here, and his trials at the Mayor's Court afforded no little amusement to the lovers of fun and oddities whose curiosity led them to observe the Major's bearing in a Court of Justice. He got off rather easier, when tried several times for assaults upon several of our citizens, than when he meddled with church-matters" at Pittsburgh. It was evident before he left here, that he was cracked" upon at least two subjects, hose of his "honor" and his "rights," and his unfortunate disposition and high mettle will keep him in "hot water," even when he gets out of jail. Wonder if he teaches the art of parrying "brickbats" with a cane. which it is said he practiced here with some success!

The Pittsburg American of Saturday, tells of the Major's performances in that goodly city:

Assault on a Clergyman .-- Dr. Upfold It is true that a Bridge will hasten the pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church population of Covington, enhance the value of this city, was violently assaulted and of property there, and greatly promote the abused, as we learn, by Maj. Dunn, this convenience of her inhabitants; but it does morning. The Maj. it seems is a member not follow of course, that the va'ue of prop- of the church, or professes so to be, and erty will be diminished here. Covington is had applied to be admitted to the communpopulating rapidly, without a Bridge, and non table against which several communiwill soon be the second city in Kentucky, if cants remonstrated with the Pastor . The Doctor took Dunn to one side and advised him of the opposition, and had finally to tell as you increase the one you add to the other. him that if he persisted in coming to the Take away one half the business of Covington, let half her stores and workshops be value. Against this the Major remonstrated with Against this the Wajor remonstrated with some demonstration of violence, from which the Doctor escaped at the time by closing the vestry door as a barrier between them. This morning Dunn met Doctor Upfold and commenced a violent assault upon him, inflicting upon him a blow on the read and another on the side. The leading churchmen are greatly excited, and Dunn if not already arrested. will be and held to bail for so great out-have no doubt the man is crazy.

The same paper, of Monday, relieves the anxiety of the curious as to his fate.

Poor Dunn has stll to keep his single preasted single coat buttoned up in jail! We do not know but this will suit Dunn as well as any place. He will have free lodging, and the jailor will give him a room to receive and instruct his class in the broad-sword exercise. It is a good

CAPT. CUTTER .- As the arrest of Capt. G. W. Cutter, of the Kenton Rangers, under the charge of oppression, &c, by some of his soldiers, has been made the subject of remark by some of the newspapers, we deem it but an act of justice to this talented gentleman to state the result of the investigation of the Court Martial. It will be highly gratifying to his numer-ous friends to know that Capt. C. has been honorably acquitted and restored to the command of his company. This informa-

FIRST DAY'S EXHIBITION. The annual fair of our society commenced on Wednesday last, and continued through the week. The first day was devoted to the exhibition of Domestic Manufactures. An immense assemblage of ladies and gentlemen were upon the ground, from our own and the adjoining counties. The receipts at the gate, for entrance, amounted for this day, to about as much as for all the days of the last fair—a fact, which we state to show, that the assembly was greatly larger than on any previous occasion. There were thousands there, eager to witness the display and to lend an interest to the occasion. The exhibition of Domestic-blankets and caps—jeans and laces—bedquilts and worked handkerchiefs—linseys and embroidery—carpets and sewing silks-combining a great variety of articles—for the number, quality and beauty of the fabrics, afforded abundant evidence of the assiduous and tasteful handiwork of our fair country-women. Indeed, such a rich display of the labors of homefrom the hands of the family circle—was never brought forth for exhibition, in our pride and praise of every heart.

the occasion; but we will make mention of

Miss LAURA HUTCHCRAFT, whose skill and taste has made her one of the most successful contributors to our fair, through the Hon. Garrett Davis, presented to the Hon. John J. Crittenden, one of our Senators in Congress, a pair of elegant blankets. Mr. Davis's address and the Senator's reply, were highly appropriate to the occasion and worthy of their distinguished reputations.

W. B. Victor, Esq., of our place, by appointment, addressed the Society and did great credit to himself and to the association. His address has been requested for publica-

The Montgomery Brass Band attended the exhibition, and gave additional interest and pleasure to the occasion, by their performances. The music gave evidence of their skill and taste, and received the hearty thanks of the whole assembly.

Among other distinguished visiters, we were gratified to see the Hon. Wm. Owsley. Governor of Kentucky. It is an evidence of the growing interest which our society is awakening, to see our distinguished states men turning aside from their labors to witness its exhibitions.

Of the Premium Jeans-strictly home made—a suit is to be presented to Governor Owsley, which is to be made by Mrs. George Branaugh, of this county, and will be for warded to him in due season. It is a beauti ful fabric, and will come from the maker's hand in the best style of workmanship.

A beautiful chair was exhibited on the ground—a present from Miss Rockhill of Philadelphia to Miss Laura Hutchcraft of this county, which attracted the notice and admiration of all. The mechanical execution of the wood work was neat and chaste-the cushion was handsomely and richly embroidered, and taken altogether, the chair was unique and of singular beauty and neatness.

Throughout the day, the greatest order was observed—the greatest interest and pleasure were manifested by the immense concourse, at the exhibition; and not an accident occurred to mar the occasion.

Truly it was a gala day, and thanks to the ladies for it. May each succeeding year witness a similar exhibition, increasing in interest and delight.

SECOND DAY.

On this day, cattle, sheep and hogs, and Farming implements, were exhibited.

The show of Cattle was fine. At all ages the competition wes spirited; but the rings of fat cattle and aged cows struck us as very superior. Indeed, the heifer that took the prodigy of her kind-being decidedly the fattest animal we have ever seen. The show of sheep and hogs was likewise very fine. Among the sheep for mutton, were several remarkably large, of the Cats-There were not many premiums offered for agricultural implements, but such as w re exhibited, were of the best quality. The chee e press, which took the premium, can be seen at our office.

The Hon. Henry Clay was present during the day, and acted as judge on cattle. He looked in excellent health and spirits.

THIRD DAY. Horses, Jack and Mule stock were exhibited on the third day.

There is always a spirited competition for the premiums for horses, and the show this year was equal to any previous occasion. The mules were very fine. We never saw finer lots in our life. Indeed, the colts—ten in number—would have commanded from several bidders, if they had been in market, $60 per head.

This day was set apart for the sale of such articles and animals, as the members of the Society might wish to dispose of. The partial success of the experiment-for such it was-was all the originators of it anticipated; but we confess it exceeded our anticipations. There was an apprehension of a failure, which did much against the plan; but, notwithstanding, there was a considerable amount of property sold, and most of it at fair prices. When the plan is carried into successful operation-attracting buyers and sellers-it will be one of the most interesting

Some domestics-and it may be remarked that such articles are generally made by our fair country-women, for home consumption brought excellent prices.

It is only necessary for us to add, that hors es, cattle, sheep and hogs were sold on such terms as the owner desired-the sale continuing to a late hour in the evening.

The ladies in respectable numbers, attended the exhibitions of stock and the sale. The fair, taken as a whole, exceeded any previous exhibition of our society. It attracted a very large concourse of people—many from a distance—and more than realized public expectation.

the saline particle and carries them with the range of the roots. Asparagus is also a marine plant. In its cultivation, salt is a highly valuable and benefical application. It sometimes happens that the beds, when the ground rich, will be greatly infested with weeds, the eradiction of which, owing to the peculiar structure of the roots of the asparagus, is a labor of no small difficulty. In relied upon for a cure. all such cases, a strong solution of sait should be applied directly to the plants, on which it will produce an immediate and highly stimulating effect, while at the same time it will as immediately destroy the

THE PEAR BLIGHT.

The Orchard cultivation of the finer varieties of the Pear, is becoming an important matter; and the soil and climate of a large part of the United States are probably as well suited to the growth of this delicious fruit, as those of any country whatever.-The only serious obstacle to its culture is the Blight, which, sometimes destroying a vigrous tree in a few days, is indeed discouraging. This disease is popularly termed the fire

Blight; but it is thought that two distin t diseases are thus confounded together, the insect blight, and the frozen sap blight .-The former is not deemed a very serious difficulty, and can be averted by vigorously pruning off the diseased branches, (as soon as they turn block,) about a foot below any black or discolored marks. The frozen-sap blight is quite another and much more alarming disease, and very disastrous in the West where trees have such a rapid and succulent growth. Mr. Downing suggests that it arises from the freezing and sudden thawing of the vessels contain ing the sap in winter. In proportion as he tree is filled with sap or unelaborated juices at the close of the growing season will be its liability to be affected with this form of blight. Trees growing on dry high county before. It was a scene to awaken the ground, where the growth is completed early in Summer, will usually escape this It is out of our power, to notice every in- form of blight, while these on low and cident, which gave interest and pleasure to moist soil where vegetation continues to a late period, will always be more subjecto it. Hence, the comparative scarcity o the frozen-sap blight in the drier and poorer soil of the Atlantic States, and its great prevalence in the deep deposits of vegetable matter, which make up a large part of the best soils of the West.

It is suggested that the frozen-sap blight may be entirely prevented, by whitewash ing the stems and principal branches of all valuable pear trees every Autumn, after the leaves have fullen. By this simple operation, the injurious action of the sun may be prevented; its rays, for the most part reflected; and the rapid thawing of any large part of the bark rendered entirely

We have condensed the above from an elaborate article by the Editor of the Hor-ticulturist. As it is now nearly time to apply the preventive, Editors of papers may confer a public benefit by calling at tention to the subject .- Cin. Gazette.

[Read the following statement of facts from Mr. E. Bailey, a highly respectable merchant of Vienna, Johnson county, Illinois.] Messrs. Phelps & Blaklsley, St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen :-- A desire to benefit the afflicted through out the land has alone induced me to make the following statement of facts respecting one of the most astonishing cures ever recorded. my son, now seventeen years old, has been afflicgreat emaciation and debility; and at intervals room to exhibit them in please call and judge during the night his expectoration would become during the night his expectoration would become so great as to endanger his life from strangulation .- During this time he was attended by many physicians of the highest repute, whose prescriptions gave but temporary relief-in fact, so a'arming were the symptoms, and so inveterate was his disease, that I was compelled to believe him beyond the reach of medical aid.

All our neighbors and friends who saw him regarded him as one who was rapidly approach ing an early and premature grave. After having thus exhausted the skill of our hest physicians without obtaining relief, I was prevailed upor by the advice of a friend to make use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

He commenced its use about the 30th of December 1844, the first bottle of which gave astonishing relief, and I began again to include in the fond hope that he might yet be restored to

After having continued the use of it until three bottles had been taken, the disease was entirely overcome and his shattered constitution and emaciated form restored to sound and permanent health, which he continues to enjoy up to the present time.

I believe the genuine Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry to be one of the most valuable medicines ever discovered --- knowing, as 1 do, that the above cure was effected solely by its use.

I am gentlemen, very respectfully, Your most obedient servant, April 9, 1846.

ELI. BAILY. Cures similar to the above are constantly being performed in all parts of our country, and we should indeed be destitute of all feelings of humanity, did we not call upon all who are afflic ted with pulmonary diseases to resort at once to the use of this, the only remedy that can be Yours very respecially G. G. MOORE. Certificate of Joseph Powell Esq.

Having used the Compound Syrup of Sassafras and Wild Cherry in my family for more than wo years in Colds and Coughs, I am fully pre pared to testify to its virtues.

My son has been subject to the Croup for several years, and frequently came near dying with it before I made use of this Syrup. Since using which, I can state with great pleasure to Parents generally, that he has been entirely relieved from every attack at the beginning, by simply taking one or two doses
I consider this Syrup invaluable in Colds and Coughs, and have never known it fail of curing the worst Case, when used in time. Indeed so valuable do I consider this Medicine that I would on no account suffer my family to be without it through the winter season. It need only be tried to be appreciated.

Covinition, January 1845.

Dr. Wise—Dear Sir:—My family, as you are aware, have more or less been afflicted with coughs and pain in the Breast, and occasionally ttacked suddenly and severely with cough Having tried a great many remedies, I car with great confidence assert that none has had such a powerful effect as your Indian Magical Expectorant—relieving the severest attacks by a few doses. I know of no remedy possessing such virtues as the Indian Magical Expectorant it being pleasant to the taste and witnout any of the unpleasant effects of most medicines. I thus offer my certificate, you being at liberty to use it as you deem proper, being satisfied that all who use it will be convinced of its usefulness. Respectfully yours,
HIRAM BOND.

DR. Wise-Dear Sir :- Having from my birth been afflicted with a disease of my Lungs and Liver, frequently unable to attend at all to my avocation, so severe has been my suffering. I have taken a great multitude of recedies and employed a number of Physicians. Having heard of your celebrated Indian Magical Expectorant effecting much good, I was induced to make trial of it, and can safely say, that I have never used a remedy with such wonderful effect -relieving me of the most distressing attack peedily.

I am now in my 70th year, and feeling unde obligations to you, for inventing a remedy of such virtues, I am constrained to say to the afflicted, try the Indian Magical Expectoran pefore you despair. Given under my hand this the 26th of Janua y, 1846. SAMUEL CARPENTER. Brunswick, Medina Co. Obio.

Clayton's whotesale mouse. ANOTHER LARGE SUPPLY OF Gold and Silver Watches, Jewelry, Watch Tools, Materials, &c. SINCE this establishment commenced supply-ing the Watch Makers and Dealers in Jewelry with goods, at the same prices that are paid for the like at the large wholesale places in New York and Philadelphia, its business has been gradually increasing; and the demand for goods his spring was so much greater than the Proprictor anticipated, that he was compelled to make two journey's in quick succession to the Eastern cities to select and order new supplies. A caution to the public—a word or two respecting Jewels and the Cases of Watches, will not be improper. Thousands of watch move-ments have been sent to this country by M. I. Tobias, that have had no extra Jewels in them, but the purchasers have fitted glass or common stone, resembling jewels, into them, and sold them for the costly full jewelled watches of M. I. Tobias; and the cases, instead of their being 18 carat, have contained more alley than gold. R. Clayton keeps a splendid assortment of the genuine M. I. Tobias watches, full jewelled by the maker, with costly compensated Chronometer Balances. Those, together with all his wa ranted watches, are cased with 18 carat gold .-

hat if they be not what they are here represented to be, the purchase money will be returned and the watches forfeited. A large stock of Jerome's best Brass Clocks, which will be sold at the manufacturers prices.

Store on the South east corner of Sycamore and Second streets, Cincinnati, commonly called "R. Clayton's Balloon Store."

A written guarantee will be given with these.
