population of New York now surges along. Where once Tyre, the queen of the sea, stood, fishermen are spreading their nets on the desolate rocks, and the bright waves are rolling over its marble columns. In the empty apartments of Edom the fox makes his den, and the dust of the desert is sifted over the forsaken ruins of Palmyra. The owl hoots in the aucient halls of kings, and the wind of a summer night makes sad music through the rents of once gorgeous palaces. The Arab spurs his steed along the streets of ancient Jerusalem, or scornfully stands on Mount Sion and curls his lip at the pilgrim pressing wearily to the sepulchre of the Saviour. Muezzin's voice rings over the bones of the prophets, and the desert wind heaps the dust above the loundations of the Seven Churches of Asia. Oh! how good and evil, light and darkness, chase each other over the

Of the conversation that passed between them there, we know nothing; but little sleep, we imagine, visited their eyes that night; and as they sat on the high summit and watched the stars as they rose one after another above the horizon and gazed on the moon as she poured her light over the dim and darkened landscapes, words were spoken that seemed born of Heaven; and truths never to be forgotten were uttered in the ears of the disciples.

We commend to the attention of our readers, the following very able letter from Gov. GEO. POINDEXTER to Gen. LESLIE COMBS. It is on a matter that has excited much attention, in which all are more or less intertreats the subject in his usual able, clear, rigorous and forcible style: -Lou. Cour.

ested, and which, we understand, will probably be the subject of legislative action at Frankfort next winter. Gov. POINDEXTER LOUISVILLE, JUNE 21st, 1846. DEAR Siz: I have looked into the question submitted by you, for my consideration, having relation to the appointment of officers of every grade to command the volunteers called for by the act of the 13th of May, 1846. The provisions of this act, it is believed by many, conflict with the rights reserved to the several States, in the Constitution, to appoint and commission officers of militia called into actual service by the au-thority of Congress. I am unable, after the most careful examination of the late act of Congress, to perceive the conflict of power over these appointments between the Executives of the several States and the President, which is said to have arisen under the provisions of the above mentioned act. This act purports to provide for the prosecution of the existing war between the United thorizes a volunteer force of 50,000 rank and respective population. The defect com-plained of, in the execution of the law in espect to the appointment of officers, may be traced to the State Executives, who hesitate, and in some instances, refuse to exercise the powers expressly reserved to the that divine form flows an atmosphere of States on this subject. State laws have strange and wondrous beauty. Heaven has been enacted in conformity with the Constipaured its brightness over that consecrated tution of the United States, prescribing the spot, and on the beams of light that glitter mode in which officers of the militia shall wrapped in the same shining vestments, stand clear that no act of Congress can have any beside him. Wonder follows wonder, for binding force whatever, the object of which these three glittering forms are talking with each other, and amid the thrilling accents are heard the words 'Mount Olivet,' 'Calvary,' ion which authorizes the President, by and the words 'Mount Olivet,' 'Calvary,' ion which authorizes the President, by and the words 'Mount Olivet,' 'Calvary,' ion which authorizes the President, by and the senate which authorizes the president of the Senate which are heard the words 'Mount Unvet,' Calvary, the agony and death of the crucifixion. Peter, awe-struck and overcome, feeling also the influence of that heavenly atmosphere, and influence of that heavenly atmosphere, and the course of appoint officers to command these volunteer corps, and consequently nothing to impulse the state. carried away by a sudden impulse, says to Jesus, in low and tremulous accents: If it be good to be here, let us build three taber-laws in each State. If the State authorities laws in each State. If the State authorities nacles; one for thee, one for Moses and one fail or refuse to execute powers over the milfor Elias.' Confused by the scene and dazpact, their tesponsibility for such neglect of a high public duty, must be left to the decision of the people, to whom they are answerable for all their public acts. But, if there be conflicting opinions on this subject, calculated to embarrass the organization of before him, his unconscious lips murmured tendered by the States and accepted by the forth the feelings of his heart. No wonder a President, they may be readily adjusted and the volunteers, whose services have been reconciled, by a reference to the Constitution and the uniform practice of the Federal govwhen, in the midst of his speech, he saw a cloud fall like a falling star from heaven, and bright and dazzling, balancing itself over mose forms of tight. Perhaps this indiscreet interruption had brought this messenger interruption had brought this messenger vice of the United States, are to be regarded vice of the United States, in the meaning in the vale below, which was subhace and appalling enough to quicken the pulsations of the calmest heart. That form was Napoleon Bonaparte, and the scene before him the fierce and terrible Battle of Mount Tabor. From Nazareth, where the Saviour had once trod, Kelber had more deviced with three thousand French soldiers forth into the plain.

When he at the foot of Mount Tabor he saw of the President, which voluntary enrollment supercedes the necessity of coercion, by means of draft, under the militia laws of the States; but the character of the troops raised under State authority remains the same in either case. This postulature would seem to be self-evident; but as doubts have been expressed, and conflicting opinions entertained on the subject, it may be necessary to refer to our past history for a correct definition of this description of troops when incorporated with the national forces. Without going farther back than the act of the 13th of May, 1846, calling on the States for 50,000 volunteers for the prosecution of the war with Mexico, it will be seen in the second section of that act, that the 'militia when called into the service of the United States by virtue of this act or any other act, may if in the opin-ion of the President of the United States the public interest requires it, be compelled to serve for a term not exceeding six months after their arrival at the place of rendezvous But no desecration can destroy the first consecration of Mount Tabor; for baptized The two following sections provide for the pay, clothing, subsistence and discipline of the wondrous scene of the transfiguration, it the corps of volunteers to be raised when mustered into the service of the United States; and section five of the act recognizes these troops as a part of the militia of the States and Territories to which they belong, from which the officers of companies, battalions squadrons and regiments hold their his money at poker with his companions, commissions. It would seem to be a waste of time to go beyond this act of Congress to show the character of the force which it framers. In that act these troops are alternately denominated "volunteers" and "militia," and their commanding officers of companies, battalions and regiments, receive their appointments from the States and Terlitories to which they belong. From the days of Washington down to the present time, this description of force has been classee, whether volunteers or drafted men, as militia called into actual service accor-ding to the Constitution and Laws of the United States. If this usurpation on State sovereignty is sanctioned or tolerated, as it is presented for the approbation of the people by the dominant party professing unlimited devotion to the principles of Democracy its inevitable tendency will be to weaken the bonds of union, which now so happily bind together this confederacy, and jeopardise the structure erected, by the framers of the Constitution for the preservation of the liberty and independence of the Republic. The effort to accomplish this object, at

It is known, generally, to the churchgoing part of our population, that an arrangement was entered into a short time since by several of the clergymen of our city, to give a series of lectures on the subject of Sunday School Instruction, (each view of thus eliciting a deeper and more general interest in our community in reference to this noble enterprise. This arrangement contemplated union meetings, in which the hearts of all christians and lovers of virtue may cordially blend in sweetest harmony.

It was my privilege to be present at the delivery of the first lecture of the series, on Monday night last, by the Rev. J. M. Frost, in the Baptist Church; and the benevolence of my heart prompted the sincere wish that the whole town had been there to enjoy and be benefitted by the dis-

It is not my design to give a full report of the lecture, as I should probably fail in the attempt to do it justice; but merely to give a brief outline of it; and thus through the medium of your paper to call the attention of our community, and especially of parents, to the fact that a course of lectures, on the subject of Sunday School Instruction. is now in progress and will be continued. on Monday night of each week, until com-

In his introluctory remarks, the lecturer assumed and happily illustrated the position, that God always prepares the way for every important and beneficent change every important and beneficent change about to be effected in human society; and further showed that such was the fact in beg leave to inform their friends and the public reference to the Sunday School System .-He then followed with a succinct history of the enterpise in England and this country. The principal subject of the lecture was the ad vantages conferred by the Sunday pleage themselves that their work shall be as good as any that is made in Cincinnati or any other School System upon the pupils." These were demonstrated to be manifold and great. I can only name a few of them as presented ov the lecturer.

Youth is the most favorable time for receiving instruction: impressions then made are deep and lasting and affect the whole after There are then fewer obstacles to the reception of right principles. It is the time when sound instruction is most needed, as the future character will, as a general rule, be de termined by the direction given to the mind in youth.

Again: the Sunday School System provides for the destaining which previously existed in the system of education. Common schools. seminaries and colleges cultivated with great cars the intellectual, but, to a great extent. neglected the training of the miral faculties.

Sunday School instruction combines the two. It also prevents crime by forming and maturing correct principles and habits in early life. Under this system the child has presented and constantly kept before its mind the strongest possible motives to virtue and dissuasives from vice; and is removed in a great degree, from the many p werful temptnorance and Sabbath-breaking. In proof of time near five hundred deaths occurred, two of which I will mention. Of all the pupils who were any length of time under the instruction of Mr. Robert Raikes, celebrated as the found r of the Sunday School system, and who for many years was engaged in this holy enterprise we the city of London, not one, so far as known, was ever convicted of any crime. 2d. Of five hundred convicts in one of our States prisons, only three had been trained in a Sunday School. Finally: The Sunday School system pro moles conversion. Under this head many interesting and convincing facts were stated cheering to the hearts of those who are engazed in this benevolent work, and such as should excite in every heart the profoundest gratitude to the Giver of all good, for what has already been accomplished by an institu tion not in its infancy.

Mackenzies Tonic Febrifuge: Its infallible health-resloring properties fully established. It is now Called the FEVER AND AGUE DESTROYER.

HE proprietor of this powerful sanative medicine, (for that it is such is NOW fuly established) has becetofore refrained from herlding it to the public as a certain antidote to Agnes, chills and intermittent fevers. He had Agues, calls and intermittent fevers. He had various reasons for his past silence—among them, first: the very improper practice every where shown in the journals of the day, of blazoning and be-puffing as 'cure-alls' of every form and manner of disease, various nostrums; thus rendering a two-fold injury—to the health of the person imposed upon, and also rendering them suspicious of medicines that would heal up their disease-torn frames, and give them back the priceless gift of strong and ruddy health; and secondy, because he was determined (although satisfied uself of the unrivalled carative properties of the FEBRIFUGE,) that when he did make it universally known, his own statements of its triumphs and effects should be backed up by AN ARRAY OF IRRESISTIBLE FACTS.

This hesitation (some may call it, foolishly, false modesty) has been altended with one result, of which the proprietor feels justly proud. The steadily increasing testimony every where at band, where the Febrifage has been resorted to as a cure for the Ague and Freer, &c. has been silent and unsolicited. Without noisy puffery -without parade or estentatious newspaper dis-play, it has so worked its way by practical and health-giving blessings, that it is now fairly and bonorably looked upon as a MIRACLE WORK-ING RESTORATIVE.

The poor victim, while remembering the hours and days of abuost hopeless wretchedness which have fold the ravages of insatiate ague, may indeed blame the proprietor that he did not sooner place within his reach so prompt and efficacious a remedial agent. In this he may appear to be jus-tified; but himself a citizen of the West, shar-ing in its blessings and sympathising in the ills altending the peopling of new settlements upon new soils the proprietor did not feel justified in claiming for the F-brifuge all that he had a right to, until the fiat of public opinion, unasked for and unsought, and therefore honest and trust-worthy, should of itself give to the FEBRIFUGE the high place it deserves in the ranks of "Dis-

rase Destroyers."
THAT TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED, supported by an immense catalogue of voluntarily offered testimonials, with the "slanding witnesses" in the neighborhood of all our agencies, with the triumphs of uninterrupted cures, WITH-OUT A SOLITARY FAILURE, with a demand for it, growing out of the urgent require-ments of the ague-stricken, who have seen with their own eyes the seals of disease forn from their neighbors, and who pine as only pine the nerve-shattered and system-prostrated, for the nerve-snatterra ion system emancipation from the bonds of romes essages, in short, sustained wherever tested, as Ague-breaking, Fever-

Destroying, and Health-renewing.

Mackenzie's Tonic Febrifuge is now offered to the rilizens of the Union, and especially those whose lot is east in the variously climated re-gions of the extensive West. It is submitted as an infa lible remedy for the torrific local disease attendant upon our soils, and the miasmatc exhalations arising therefrom.

This town has a good location, having a fine back country, a first rate landing for Steam Boats and a ferry across, the river, lately established at that place. Several lots have been donated to Mechanics who have located there; and the subscriber will donate to a Tanner, Wagonmaker, Cooper and Tobacconist, each a lot, if they will establish themselves in said town, and comply with the conditions as stated on a plat of said town in the dossession of James Robinson. There is a l'ost Office and two Stores in the place, and the regular Packet boats touch at that point twice a day.

On Friday, the 13th of this month, the subscriber will at lend at said place to receive sealed proposals for renting a l'avera two stories high, with six rooms and cellar and other convenien-cies attached to the same—possession of said house to be given on the 1st day of March 1847. Also -a large Warehouse 413 by about 25 feet, which would make a good Tobacco Factory. Said property to be rented from one to five years, at a yearly rent;; and if rented approved security will be required for the payment of the rent.—
The subscriber, however, reserves the right to decline the proposition of any one if he deems the same too low. The subscriber has in progress several dwelling houses and a warehouse, which will be finished by the first of January next, which will be for rent. Friend Finnell:-I have no particular news to communicate to you this week. We have had no fights that I have heard of. One of the city officers told me to-day "that trade was very dull in his line," though he expect ed an improvement in a few weeks. Prof. Cross has published an "analysis" of the last publication of Prof. Dudley and others. I have not seen it, but I am told that it is "very rich." So they go on with this controversy each one calling the other nard names, etc. etc. "to the no small amusement of the bystanders," who can only look on and enjoy it and ask, as many others have done before

"who shall decide when doctors disagree?" In the absence of news to tell you, I wish you to give me your "private opinion" of a case which came under the notice of my "Wandering Gentile" a few days since, but which happ ins at a certain place in this city spent hall in the head. this city a man who is very wealthy—worth some forty or fifty thousand dollars; he does not at present and never was known in his verely wounded, contusion of arm by grape. goes into his neighbors store soon after breakfast "Good morning, what news have you this morning?" "Any late news from the Army?" "Any late prices current?" And without further ceremony he goes to work, looking up the papers wherever he sees them lying; and when he gets his hands on them. he starts off.—"I'll take these round and read them and return after awhile;" for doing which, however, he takes his own time; and if they tell him they have'nt read them yet, it is all the same." "I'll keep them only a few minutes." In short, he is one of the men who cant be "bluffed." I suppose his feelings are like the fellow's conscience, which he said "was very good what there was of it, but it laid deep and did not show itself on ordinary occasions." On more than one occasion the "b'hoys" in the store hid the papers when they saw him coming, and he saw them as they gathered them up, and with self-gratulation laid them "behind the counbut this would not do; he walked up like a man and asked for them. Now I must confess that I am at a loss to know what opinion to form of the man, and I come to you for information. I do not condemn the practice of borrowing papers, if a man does his share towards sustaining them; if he it is all right, but to borrow altogether, and depend entirely on borrowing in order to get the news, looks strange to me; however, as I have asked your opinion on the subject. I Brown County Boys. -A. F. Shaw, private, shall wait until I hear it. Would it not be well for editors to keep a stanling notice at the head of a conspicuous column?-something nearly as follows: "Reader, you have no moral right to read the news in this paper unless you are a subscriber to it, or some other paper." I merely throw out the suggestion in order to call your attention, or that of other editors, to the subject.
Good night. THE HERMIT.

From the New Orleans Commercia Times of the 231 ult., we copy the following distressing account of the loss of life, and the destruction of public and private property, by a furious gale in the Gulf. The account will be perused with deep

We learn with infinite sorrow and rerendered desolate the homes of an entire population, and occasioned an immense loss of property, both public and private. On Sunday the 11th of October, a gale of wind of unexampled fury, blowing from the Northwest, took place in the Gulf, and successively shifting to almost every point of the compass, without relaxing in intenthe whole of shore with wrecked vessels and fragments of vessels, which unfortunately happened to be in that vicinity. The town of Key West may be said to have been left entirely prostrate by this inelancholy occurrencescarcely half a dozen houses remaining un roofed. The water was forced in on the streets, so that in many place it was several feet deep. The light-houses at Key West; in which there were sixteen persons, and at Sand Key, where there were six, were completely demolished-not a vestige of anything like a building, or foun dation of a building remaining-and the whole of the unhappy beings who were there exposed to the tury of the tempest, were lost. The fort was also destroyed -caissons, etc., etc., being quite swept away; the damage sustained by Govern ment, in the destruction of public works, being estimated to be not less than three hundred thousand dollars. REMARKS .- Business of nearly all descriptions has been fair this week. The demand for Flour has been regular and active, and the sales foot up 11,894 brls. The prevailing rate has point where the Caledonia's news found it .-Whiskey has declined from 194c, as the highest price last week, to 174c, as the lowest price this week. There has been a good demand, however, generally, and till within the past two days, all have gone off very well in a regular way. New Orleans Sugar, it will be seen, moves downward, as the new crop begins to show itself on the levee in Ne v Orleans, and straggling lots find their way up here. Other leading articles are firm at previous rates. Provisions are not much called for. Dry Goods move off regularly.

The river has been swelling rapidly at this part since Tuesday morning. There is now a fine stage of water out to the Mississippi .- Cin. Gaz.

Disease is on me; and I feell Its slow entwining fold: It coils about this mortal frame, With ghastly, deathly hold, Clutching the dear vitalities With a hand rude and cold.

I set at my chamber window, The room is very drear, And wishful gaze upon the fields, Which in my youth were dear; Sighing to be on them once more, I furn away in fear.

I look upon the verdant earth; Into the clear blue sky; Upon the rosy tinted clouds, When gloomy night is nigh; Then gazing on my cheerless room, Sadly, mournfully sigh.

I see from here, where I sported, Upon you glassy stream, Its limpid waters like silver, As in sunlit they gleam; The remembrance of scenes gone by, Comes to me as a dream.

I look out into the throng'd town, Its avenues are lined With my friends, who in health and strengt Their wayward courses wind; Whilst I, in this lone dreary place, By disease am confined.

The flowers have bloomed and are gay, And raise their heads to me Sending me up their redolence, As tho? thro? sympathy; How one delights to have feeling From pureness and beauty.

Kindly comes the summery air, Cooling my fevered brain, Gently lifting my thinned locks, And placing them again. With so much tenderness, it seems Afraid of giving pain.

The hopes which of erst I cherished, Are fast fading away;
The honors for which I panted, Have lost their potent sway; That glory which was all brightness, Has not a charming ray.

Decay is on me :- I am weak : With each exhaling breath, I feel my life is flowing out-Nearer approaches death; Tho' slowly and insidiously He creepeth on by stealth.

And soon I will lie in the tomb, Wrapt in the last long sleep; But yet again the spring will come-The moon will mount the deep Heavenly vault, and her vast train "Still their bright vigils keep."

Why should I repine or regret, That in my youth I leave
This earth? Why o'er stern fate's decree. Uselessly, weakly grieve? Wherefore indulge delusive hopes, Which flatter and deceive?

There are regrets which touch the heart, Making the sovereign mind Bow humbly as the frailest reed, Before the passing wind; The thoughts of going bence from one Dear soul that's left behind.

Tis like the severance of nerves, Or cleaving the heart strings; It sables the mind with saddest thoughts-Deepest misery brings; And o'er this bright, beautiful earth, A darksome shadow flings. Covington, Oct. 1846

MASONIC ORDER. - It appears from the annual communication of the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons in Chio that this Institution is now in a state of great prosperity and in a better condition than it ever was before. The different Lodges in the State were never so well represented before, and the Grand Lodge now assembled in this city is regarded as one of the most intelligent and respectable looking body of men that ever assembled in the Western country.

BALLOON INFLATION.

laytom's Wholesale House. ANOTHER LARGE SUPPLY OF Sold and Silver Watches, Jewelry, Watch

Tools, Materials, &c. SINCE this establishment commenced supply-ing the Watch Makers and Dealers in Jewelry with goods, at the same prices that are paid for the like at the large wholesale places in New York and Philadelphia, its business has been gradually increasing; and the demand for goods this spring was so much greater than the Pro-prietor anticipated, that he was compelled to make two journey's to quick succession to the Eastern cities to select and order new supplies.

A caution to the public-a word or two respecting Jewels and the Cases of Watches, will not be improper. Thousands of walch move-ments have been sent to this country by M. I. Tobias, that have had no extra Jewels in them, but the purchasers have fitted glass or common stone, resembling jewels, into them, and sold them for the costly full jewelled watches of M. I. Tobias; and the cases, instead of their being 18 c rat, have contained more alley than gold. R. Clayton keeps a splendid assortment of the genuine M. I. Tobias watches, full jewelled by the maker, with costly compensated Chronome-ter Balances: Those, together with all his warranted watches, are cased with 18 caratgold.—
A written guarantee will be given with these,
that if they be not what they are here represented to be, the purchase money will be returned and the watches forfeited. A large stock of Jerome's best Brass Clocks, which will be sold at the manufacturers prices. Store on the South east corner of Sycamore and Second streets, Cincinnati, commonly called
